9.00 - 12.30 | Introduction in Leadership for Young Professionals

Sue Pickering, Director, Develop Limited

Key elements and takeaways for this masterclass:

- Understand the fundamentals of leadership
- Learn and interact with a panel of leaders from across the civil industry
- Gain insights into different leadership styles

9.00 - 12.30 | Understanding social procurement in civil construction

Peter Ensor, McConnell Dowell Constructors Ltd, Tom Mansell, Auckland Council, Jamie Kissock, Ministry of Social Development, Chris Leyland, Auckland Council

Central and local government clients are moving away from awarding contracts based on lowest cost so they can get better outcomes for their communities and for Aotearoa.

Join us for a masterclass explaining what social procurement is and where central and local government clients, like Auckland Council and Waka Kotahi NZ Transport Agency, are working with MSD and other organisations to support the construction sector.

At this masterclass, you will also learn how you can make social procurement work in your business, and what might be expected from you at the tender box.

9.00 - 12.30 | Business succession planning - Selecting and developing our future business leaders

John Bryant, Director/Consultant, JDB Consulting & Elizabeth Howells, Director/Business Psychologist, PeopleCentric

Who should attend: Business Owners, People and Performance Professionals and Business Executives

The industry has a growing challenge to find people who can take on the demands of leading civil contracting businesses. The career paths for most contracting employees does not naturally lead to the development of successful business leaders. The cost of selecting a person who is not capable of delivering in these roles is extremely high. The cost of not being able to find people is also high.

This master class will introduce an industry specific model to identify, select, assess and target development for our future civil contracting business leaders.
